August 30, 1928 - October 24, 2018

Betty Cornman Manis passed away October 24, 2018, at the age of 90. Born and raised in New Orleans, Louisiana, she graduated from Newcomb College with a degree in Biology and worked as a researcher. Betty met her husband, Norman, when he visited the city on vacation and they were set up on a blind date. They married soon after and she moved to Fond du Lac, where she embraced the city as her home. In 1973, Betty was awarded her instructor certification through Sivananda, becoming one of the very first yoga teachers in Wisconsin. Many people who developed lifelong practices had their first introduction to yoga from Betty. In 1983, Betty moved to the Orlando, Florida area, where she scaled back her general classes and focused more on using yoga to help individuals with geriatric issues.

Betty was preceded in death by her beloved husband, Norman A. Manis, to whom she was married for 64 years. She was also predeceased by her parents, Isidore and Sarah Cornman, her sisters Tillye, Miriam, Rhea, Claire, Faye Helen and Faye Rose, and by her brother Leon.

She is survived by her children: Stuart Manis of Longwood, Florida , Marc

(Harriet) Manis of Winter Springs, Florida and Julie (Bruce Kraus) Manis of New York City; as well as her sister Gail (Karlman) Wasserman of Los Angeles. Betty is also sadly mourned by her many nieces, nephews and former yoga students.
