“ Glady had the sweetest smile that would brighten my day or night when I saw her. It never mattered if she remembered my name, I just new she trusted me. It was like she could read your soul and it meant the world to me to be able to help her. It was an honor. She was a blessing. Her daughter and grand kids with their unwavering love on her birthday, or when she saw me in the nun costume. All the laughs she would chuckle. May the Lord wrap you all in his loving arms and ease your grief.
