“ I met Mary through Lynn whom I have dubbed my aunt and family even though we’re not related. We were at Friar Tuck’s for my uncle Erik’s birthday celebration. I didn’t know Mary well, but watching her and Lynn from across the table I could tell they had a very special mother daughter bond. They talked, laughed, rubbed noses (Eskimo kisses) and they pretty much had their own secret language that only they could understand. You could feel the love that they shared for each other radiating a mile away. I’ll state again that I didn’t know Mary well, but, I do know Lynn. Lynn is an incredible human being and I’m proud to call her family. I can only conclude that Mary must’ve been quite a wonderful human herself to have raised someone like Lynn. I know she will be deeply missed, not only by Lynn, and her family, but, I’m sure many others that encountered her light throughout her time on this planet.

“ The strongest, most resilient woman I have ever known. Her ripples touched so many and will continue to make a positive influence forever. She loved her clan, especially her children, grandchildren, and nieces and nephews of all generations. She loved to travel, especially on her Harley. Do not cry for he;, she was ready for the next step, back into Timmy & Ted & TJ's arms to watch over all the friends and family (and those branches yet to come) while they traverse this Earthly plane.

“ To Mary’s family,

Mary was one of the nicest people I got to know at St. Agnes when I started working there. At that time she was running the coffee shop near the main elevators of the hospital many years ago. She was always smiling and working hard during the busy lunch breaks. Often times she would sit with our late lunch group and we had a lot of fun conversations. I ran into her after I retired – she was at the Oakfield Library where she was volunteering, and she still had that smile and enjoyed working there. I didn’t realize she lived nearby, and I think that was the last time I saw her. I thought about Mary just a few days ago, wondering what she was up to. I am sorry for your loss – may she rest in peace.

*Thank you for your kind words. She loved reading and shared that with my brother and I with frequent trips to the Fond du Lac library when we were young
When I was hospitalized at ST Agnes as a child she always found time to write notes of love on the napkins that came on my food trays.*

That describes her well, always going that extra step for someone who needed it.

“ Too many wonderful memories of Mary to pick one. Mary was courageous and inspirational. I am honored to have known her and be her friend. Her love of games extended to the game of real life. And she always played that well and was a winner. One can only hope to carry her light forward by loving and caring for others in the unselfish and non judgmental way she did. She will be missed by many as she was loved by all who knew her.

Mary was my supervisor and St. Agnes and also St. Francis Home. She cared deeply for others. She had a great smile and could be a real hoot at times. My sympathy to Gary and to you Lynn. I knew Gary well from the hospital. Hadn't seen your mom in years, but have fond memories>
