“ Oh Nancy, I wish I had stopped by just one week sooner, I am so saddened to hear of your passing. I am so blessed and feel so honored to have had the privilege of knowing and caring for you. The way you could let wise words just flow effortlessly out of you was living proof of God’s glory. I always admired you and your God fearing love and marriage with Bill. You guys were truly the dream. What I hope to have someday. I know you are in Heaven now with our Almighty King Jesus, he needed you and now has plans for you there and I can’t wait to see you again, happy and healthy and no more worries or pain. You always could make me smile and I loved praising the Lord with you and hearing all of your beautiful poems and songs. You were a truly talented artist and poet. I will be ready for the trumpets to sound and blow, and remember that Jesus is coming back soon, could be the morning, night or noon. I will forever cherish and remember all of those little sayings you lived by on the daily. You have really made a huge impact in my life physically and spiritually Nancy, you always loved me so much and your hugs were the warmest. I am so saddened I did not get one today, but will not be dismayed because I know one day I will get to hug and see you again. My prayers for your husband Bill and your children and their families as they learn to live through the grief of losing you, a wonderful amazing full of love and light woman. God bless you my sister in Christ, this is not goodbye but only until we see each other again❤️🙏🏻✝️ I love you so so so much.
