“ Richards father was a talented Craftsman. He was always present for everyone in his family, he was quiet and yet reassuring. He was in my high school Goodrich class and that was a bond that we shared after my daughter Cassandra married his son Richard. I remember him always willing to help out Richard with home improvement projects, he had specially a knack for fixing small engines tools he was a very resourceful man. I know he had a green thumb too, as he had a vegetable garden ever year. I'm very sorry and shocked to hear of his passing. It breaks my heart and he will be missed at all the family events that have been numerous in the Dempsey family. He was a kind gentle unassuming man always to me.
