“ Wanda was such a special person in my life! I was a right-out-of-high-school young'un when I started working at Florence Eiseman and she sort of took me under wing. I not only learned much about factory sewing, more importantly I learned a lot about life. Regardless of what came her way it seemed like she could keep a "light" attitude and more or less kept on going with a positive attitude. I thank God for having known her.
